

Resources for General Education (29/03/2010)

Dear all,

In order to support the general education program that the University will implement, the Library has created a database on general education and incorporated it in its homepage with the link as follows:

http://library.umac.mo/e\_resources/um\_gen\_edu/main.asp

In addition to including the books and journals that the Library currently holds in this subject area, this website also provides –

(1) List of textbooks and reference materials for UM general education courses, and (2) Links to general education programs in some famous universities overseas, such as Harvard, Stanford, Carnegie Mellon, University of California (Davis). These will serve as very useful references.

This website is only a beginning and will be enhanced regularly with new materials added.

You are welcome to visit the Library's website and use this database. If you have any questions or suggestions, please let us know. Thank you.

Regards,
UM Library
